IIIT-D/Office Orders/2015/16084

March 23, 2015

CIRCULAR NO: 3/2015

The Board in its 27th meeting held on 26th Aug 2014 has approved following guidelines for conduct of Continuing Education Programs (CEPs) in the Institute:

CEP Programs

- A CEP program is generally intensive program over a short duration conducted for working professionals. It may be, for example, two or three day lecture-intensive programs, or one to a few week long programs which are a combination of lectures and labs. Such programs may also use blended learning approaches – i.e. a combination of on-line delivery and face-to-face delivery.
- Initially the focus will be on high-end programs only, focusing on industry professionals and government officials.
- Programs may be conducted at IIIT-Delhi or at external site. If held at IIIT-Delhi, the program will pay for the use of facilities as per the institute decided rates.
- Each CEP course will have a CEP course-coordinator(s) which will be a faculty member(s) (or officer/engineer) of the Institute. The CEP course can involve other faculty members from the Institute or outside, experts, officers of the Institute, senior students, etc.
- For conducting a CEP course, the Course Coordinator(s) will submit a proposal with budget (both income and expenditure) to Institute's CEP coordinator (currently Dean IRD), who will approve the conducting of the course. Template for this will be evolved later. Normally, the course will be approved if it satisfies CEP guidelines and has minimal impact on regular functioning of the Institute.
- It will be entirely the responsibility of Course Coordinators to conduct the program smoothly. Institute will provide support through the CEP office (which we will start later.)
- A standard CEP certificate may be provided to delegates of approved courses of sufficient duration (initially 3 days or more). These certificates will be signed by the CEP coordinator and the Course Coordinators. If a course is conducted in partnership with other organization(s) a joint certificate may also be issued, as approved by the CEP coordinator.

Faculty Time

- A faculty member may give no more than 20 hours of CEP lectures during the semester. During the vacation, there is no limit.
- A faculty member may use up to 0.5 course teaching load at the Institute for CEP courses. (Load reduction due to CEP may not breach the minimum course load of 1 course/sem.) A CEP course in which a faculty member gives appx 20 hours of lectures, with corresponding hands-on/lab/project/discussion, may count as equivalent to 0.5 course load.
- For CEP courses taught outside the Institute, the visit days will be treated as part of permitted consulting days.

Financial Management

- Each CEP course will have to be fully self-supporting with no budgetary support from the Institute. Revenue for the program may come from participation fees for delegates, or sponsorship, or any other source.
- For each CEP course, a project account will be opened in which all incomes will accrue and from which all expenses will be met. Guidelines for this, including provision of advances and imprest, will be evolved later.

- For all CEP courses, an overhead of 20% from overall revenue will be charged by the Institute. However, this may be reduced in case of budgetary constraints. If the course is being arranged in partnership with some other organization(s), then this overhead may be shared with them. If the CEP Course coordinator(s) of the Institute belong to a centre, then 20% of the overhead the Institute gets (i.e. entire overheads that the Institute gets) will be transferred to the Centre's account.
- After all costs have been incurred, including for travel, rental fee for facilities like lecture halls, labs, etc., food, honorarium, etc., the "surplus" will be shared equally between the Institute and the CEP Course Coordinators (who can share it with other people involved in the course). If the course was in-lieu of Institute's teaching load, then Institute will keep 75% of this surplus. In case of program conducted by Course Coordinator (s) of Centre of the Institute, 20% of the surplus will be transferred to the Centre's account. Balance will be shared equally or in the ratio of 75:25 as the case may be. The proposal for the course should mention how the coordinators' portion of the surplus will be shared. The course coordinators and faculty members involved can put parts of it in their PDA, if they wish. If the course is being conducted in partnership with other organization(s) then the surplus will be shared between the Institute and the organization(s) on a mutually agreed manner, and the Institute's share will be shared with the course coordinators as above.

Honorarium Rates

Faculty and students giving lectures and helping in the labs may be given honorarium for this work. The current rates for the same are:

- For faculty: Rs 1000 per lecture hour for those courses done in lieu of the Institute's teaching load; Rs 5000 per lecture hour for those which are done as additional activity. For labs that may be conducted as part of the course, the Course Coordinator can take Rs 500 per hour for planning etc. The course coordinator may take an additional Rs. 5000 per course day for course coordination/ planning, etc.
- For PhD students: Rs 500 per hour for direct help in labs, and Rs 1000 per hour for lectures. Institute employed engineers who directly participate and help in labs and lectures they may be given an honorarium at the same rate. For senior UGs/ MTech students hon rate will be Rs 300 per hour.
- If the course is being conducted in partnership with some other organization(s) honorarium rates may be as mutually agreed.
- For officers: CEP will be a regular institute activity to be supported by administration. However, nominal honorarium may be given to officers involved in CEP activity. This will be on a per-course basis, and will be finalized later, and may be similar to that for conference organization.

The Order shall become effective from 26.08.2014.

This is issued with the approval of the competent authority
