REVIEW OF THE ANNUAL APPRAISAL PROCESS OF ADMIN STAFF
(As approved in the 63rd Board of Governors meeting, held on 28.11.2023)

The annual appraisal of staff is a yearly activity which is carried out in the month of August and September. It was felt that the existing system needed review to improve the overall effectivity of the process and to make the overall administrative structure more efficient. Based on the recommendations of the Annual Appraisal Committee meeting held 15.12.2022 and the feedback from various stakeholders, the main focus of review is on recognizing weak areas/weak performances and putting in extra effort to uplift them, more involvement of senior admin officers into the system, timely conduct of appraisal process, clearly defined improvement plan and enhancing the effect and mechanism of 360 degree review.

Current Structure

The current system of appraisal is as below:

Stages	Mechanism
1.	Self- Appraisal form to be filled by an employee and submitted to Reporting Officer.
2.	Reporting officer will give his/her ratings in the common form and submit the same to HR dept.
3.	Surveys are floated and findings are tabulated by the HR for each department.
4.	It is at the discretion of the Director to get reviewed the feedback and findings of the surveys from a committee as approved in the HR manual which was reported in BOG meeting.
5.	One to one meeting with the Director (Reviewing Officer gives his/her ratings keeping in view the survey ratings) in the presence of Reporting Officer.

Timelines that are being currently being followed are as below:

1. Self-Appraisal Form
 - a. Initiation date (last week of July)
 - b. Submission date to Reporting Officer (within 10 days)
2. Survey Floating
 - a. Initiation date (2nd week of August)
 - b. Closure date (within 10 days)
3. Date of submission of Appraisal form by the Reporting Officer to HR department in sealed envelope (Same as at s. no. 2).
4. Date of Committee Assessment report (Last week of August).
5. Submission of report to the Director (Last week of August).
6. One to One meeting with the Director (first week of September).

360 degree Feedback

- The Overall Admin Feedback Form/Overall Placement Feedback Form by passing out batch are considered by the Committee to recommend the improvement areas in the administrative structure.
- The Peer Feedback Form /Admin Feedback Form by subordinate/Individual specific Feedback Form have been designed for informal feedback to be considered by the Committee to derive the final rating.

It has been reported that the 360 degree feedback did not generate the desired results and the picture obtained as a result of it does not give a true picture of the improvement required in the processes. It has also been seen that individual specific feedback has been going to people who have not worked with the staff whose feedback was being sought.

Keeping in mind the above, and study of various appraisal processes in India and abroad, the following will be the enhancements in the current process:

1. Timely submission of Self-Evaluation and the Review reports- The process of timely submission of the Self Evaluation report and further processes as indicated in the current structure may be strictly followed so that the staff receives the feedback and improvement plan in time to work on goals of the next year. A mechanism of effect on grading in case of non-submission of the appraisal in time may be made.
2. Additional parameters in the Self Appraisal- It is observed that the current Self-Evaluation appraisal form is as per government norms. Keeping in mind the unique placement of the Institute, the forth-mentioned components are added that can be used for discrete parameters for review- Divisional objectives, Individual Objectives, Goal Setting, Timelines.
3. Additional parameters in the Review Mechanism- It is observed that the current reporting and reviewing parameters, as in the appraisal form, are being used as per government norms. However, adding the following parameters to the review process will add the behavioural component to the review that plays a major role in assessing the competence of the individual staff.
The Reporting Officer will submit the report two main points- Strengths & Development Areas in four main areas- Teamwork, Communication/Relationship Skills, Leadership, Technical knowledge, Sensitivity towards timelines, Sensitivity towards quality.
The overall review will have the forth-mentioned parameters may be added to the review- Role Information, Transparency, Commitment, Forthrightness, Communication, Flexibility, Attitude to criticism, Creative solutions, Professional Standards, Thought beyond the Present, Thought Effectiveness.
4. Revision in the structure of the individual/peer review- As per the current peer review system, the Individual/Peer Feedback Form is circulated amongst peers, the effectivity of which can be increased if there is a list of peers/people that the staff has regularly interacted with and the assessment can be made accordingly. Hence, each officer may be asked to designate 10 peers/people they have worked with in the past year. To avoid bias, a similar list can be taken from his immediate seniors to have a fair picture. The following parameters may be added to such a review- Focus, Communication, Transparency, Attitude to criticism, Work Environment, Collaboration, Efficiency, Professional Standards, Scale, Schedule Adherence.

5. Revision in the overall feedback from various stakeholders- To improve the general feedback from stakeholders, the response of which has been found to be sparse, it is proposed that each staff may designate 20 stakeholders they have dealt with in the past year. Such lists may be obtained from other staff as well. The current overall admin feedback form may also be reviewed to see whether it answers the questions that will help improved the current system.
6. Revision in the overall reporting structure of staff- It has been stressed upon in the minutes of the Appraisal Committee and as per feedback from various sections of the staff, the reporting structure needs an overhaul. The reporting mechanism will be as follows :

Division	Reporting	Reviewing	Remarks
All Divisions	Division-in-charges	Director	Senior officers of the division may be consulted for review and improvement plan of the junior officers.
Staff in Departments	Department Heads	Director	Senior admins may be consulted for review, as required.
Staff reporting under Deans	Respective Dean	Director	Senior admins may be consulted for review, as required.
Senior Admin	Registrar	Director	Subordinate/peer review to be kept in mind for review
Registrar	Director	Director	Subordinate/peer review to be kept in mind for review

7. Carefully chalked out Improvement Plan- The Reporting Officer and the Appraisal Committee may give a carefully chalked out improved plan, based on the parameters mentioned in each form which gives the staff a clear direction for the next year and the same plan can be put up when the appraisal for the next year is reviewed.
8. Measures in case of non-compliance with the Improvement Plan- The Appraisal Committee may chalk out a plan to withhold special incentives and tenure/promotion review, in case non-compliance of Improvement Plan.
9. Identification of weak areas and weak performers- The Appraisal Committee, based on the individual and 360 degree review, identify weak areas that need to be uplifted and need special attention as well as weak performers, who need special plan/trainings/hand holding to see that there is significant improvement in their work efficiency. In case, there is still not much increase in the efficiency of weak performers after making consistent efforts to uplift them, a mechanism of discontinuing or phasing out of the institute may be put in place.
10. All current feedback forms may be reviewed by the Appraisal Committee and parameters suggested may be added.
11. The appraisal process may be reviewed periodically to iron out any kinks in the process.
12. A separate policy for assessing the performance of the outsourced employees/vendor (including its staff) may be put in place.
