ANNEXURE A

GUIDELINES FOR USAGE OF CENTRE DEVELOPMENT ACCOUNT

1. A Centre will have a Centre Development Account (CDA) for receiving funds from all external and internal sources. The CDA will receive funds from sources like part of the overhead contributed by members, sponsorship, Grants, CSR grants, consultancy, etc. Effectively, the CDA will maintain all the funds that a Centre can generate on its own or the funds that are transferred to it by its members or external bodies.
2. To maintain the CDA in a transparent and audited manner, the head will create a small committee (at least 3 members) to prepare a budget for each financial year. The head will be the Chair of this committee by default unless the head nominates another member to chair the committee. The committee will remain in effect for one year and can be renewed.
3. The CDA budget will have the usual heads, e.g., Personnel, Equipment, Travel, Honorarium, etc., and any other head as suggested by the committee.
4. The Centre Head will have autonomy to recruit personnel (on contract) for compensation (including salaries, honorarium, performance-linked bonus, profit-sharing etc.) commensurate with market standards within the budget allocated for it and for roles deemed appropriate by the Centre.
5. The Centre Head can also decide top-ups, honorariums, and other benefit schemes for staff and faculty members of the Centre, under an appropriate budget head.
6. The budget will be presented to Centre members and get the concurrence of the members of the Centre. The Centre Head will have the veto power to come to a decision. The Centre will also prepare guidelines to utilize the budget
7. The budget will be approved by the Director and notified to the Board for each financial year.
8. After approval of the budget, the Centre Head will have full autonomy to utilize the budget for different activities, and no further approvals will be needed as long as the expenses follow the approved budget.
9. The Centre head is also empowered to re-appropriate the budget up to 15% if needed. However, re-appropriations should be avoided and be done only when extremely necessary. The Director will approve the re-appropriated Budget.
